SPECIAL CHRISTMAS EDITION

HONORED BY MINISTER OF HIGHWAYS

MR. L. A. BOUCHER, municipal roads engineer in the Huntsville district office, Ontario Department of Highways, is congratulated by Hon. James N. Allen, Minister of Highways, on becoming a member of the Ontario Public Service Quarter Century Club.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor,
Haliburton County Echo,
Haliburton, Ont.

Dear Mr. Editor:

With reference to the advertisement which appeared in your worthy paper last week announcing a "special" Christmas day dance at the Slipper, we the members of the Dysart Ministerial Association wish to voice our protest.

No doubt such a feature will be justified on the basis of "public request," but it is our opinion that the public in general will share with us the conviction that this is a desecration of the sacredness of this holy day.

Sincerely yours, Dysart Ministerial Assn.
(signed) Stuart Wilson, president; James F. O'Neill, secretary; Gerald Leonard, Clifford Manning, W. J. Robertson, Lorne Schmitt, L. Fairhurst.

Haliburton, Ont.
December 17, 1956.

To the Editor,
Haliburton County Echo.

Dear Sir:

I wish through the columns of your paper to set forth a few facts which the people of Ward I and also of the rest of the municipality should know.

As you are well aware I contested a seat on the municipal council and came off second best. This of course is all ready history but the fact remains that my participation in the race gave the voters a choice which is their right in a democratic country.

What influence the libelous statements of my opponent, Elizabeth M. Nicol, had on the results would be very difficult to evaluate but I will not let such an attack on my integrity go unchallenged.

Regarding the statement in which I was accused of graft in connection with the purchase by the school board of the Walling property I submit that this was a clear cut business transaction with no thought on the part of anyone on the board making a personal gain of any kind.

As my opponent knew or could have readily learned I did not at that time or at any time have any interest in, or connection with, the property referred to, but due to a mere coincidence that the owner of said property had the same surname as myself, Elizabeth Nicol says in effect that I sell property to the school board or that I make some personal gain from the sale of relative's property.

During the period when negotiations were being made Mr. Mervyn Robertson, who was chairman of the board, handled the correspondence between the board and Mrs. Henry Walling's attorney and can vouch for the fact that the deal was handled throughout on an honorable basis, with the only desire on the part of every member of the board to render a service to the people of the municipality.

Possibly it would be wise to publish the minutes of each board meeting in the press. Such a practice should serve the dual purpose of keeping the ratepayers informed and protect the board members against such unjustified attacks in the future.

Yours truly,
Lester H. Walling.

Lochlin, Ont.
December 15, 1956.

Mr. B. Feir, editor,
Haliburton County Echo,
Haliburton, Ont.

Dear Sir:

In a recent issue of your paper we were pleased to see a letter from the secretary-treasurer of the local Red Cross organization, expressing appreciation of the work that the Madrigal singers have been doing for their community.

This letter was a welcome change from the hymns of hate which we usually read and we were surprised and perturbed to see it marked as an advertisement.

I have no doubt Mr. Kaye was happy to pay the exorbitant cost of this letter as an advertisement if necessary, to bring to the public notice the good work of this singing group, but as both the Red Cross and the Madrigals are non-profit groups, why call it an advertisement?

When we think of all the vilification, hate and ill-will toward man expressed in some of the letters to the editor, inserted, I presume, without charge, it makes us wonder if your business is only to sell papers or also

Pauline Whittaker Called By Death

Haliburton residents were shocked on Monday morning when they learned of the sudden death of Pauline E. Dean, beloved wife of Clifford Whittaker.

The late Mrs. Whittaker had apparently been in fair health until Monday morning when her husband, who had just finished his breakfast found her in a state of coma. She was immediately rushed to the Haliburton Red Cross hospital where she passed on.

We understand that Mrs. Whittaker had completed decoration of the tree and had made preparations for a happy Christmas with her family.

As we prepare to observe this festive occasion our spirits cannot but be somewhat subdued as we realize that for this family group the holiday will be far from a joyous one and we join the entire community in expressing our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in their hour of sorrow.

Haliburton WMS

The regular meeting of the United Church W.M.S. was held in the church hall on Friday night, Dec. 14, with the president, R. Manning, in charge.

A candle-light ceremony, "His Constant Lamp," was conducted by Mrs. Grenville Dart, assisted by a few other members.

The taking of the collection was followed by roll call and the reading of the minutes. Christmas gifts were handed in for needy children.

Mrs. Chas. Tyler read a letter from Miss Rorke, our missionary in Japan, telling of her work and interesting incidents which had taken place. Miss Rorke also sent a book on Japan which is to be passed around to the members.

All committees submitted brief reports. We were interested to know we had met our allocation for the year.

The nomination committee selected Mrs. Manning as president to be assisted by Mrs. W. R. Curry and Mrs. Conway Woodcock. Our secretary is Mrs. George Wheeler and Mrs. Melville McKnight our treasurer.

Mrs. Wes. Baker led in a Christmas contest which was won by Mrs. Dart. Mrs. Wheeler led in carol singing.

A dainty lunch was served by our hostesses, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. R. Johnston, Mrs. Woodcock and Mrs. Manning.

to be of good service to your community.

Yours very truly,
Helen L. Hill.

● Editor's Note — Had Mr. Kaye wished to have written to the editor regarding the work of the Madrigal singers we would have been glad to have published it free of charge, but Mr. Kaye insisted that the letter go as was and was quite willing to have it appear as an advertisement.

A card of thanks could have been inserted by the Red Cross expressing their appreciation of the Madrigal singers for the exorbitant sum of 75 cents.

MINDEN ROTARY

In this the preholiday meeting was children's night and by some arrangement 27 members were able to turn up with 43 "sons and daughters" aged 12 or less.

The program, under the direction of Lorne Coburn, consisted first a number of selections of a recorder group from the Miner's Bay school under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Edna Lidster. This is an old musical instrument brought out again in recent times and is being promoted by the music teacher in that area, Ian Martin.

The main item as far as the children were concerned was the magical work of Geo. Laidlaw who wowed the children (and the grown-ups) for nearly an hour.

As the next two meeting days fall in the holiday season they will be abbreviated and we will not be making a regular report.

—Thos. W. Brigall.

Minden's New Bridge Open

On Friday last week Minden's new "Sunnybrook" bridge was opened to traffic.

Reeve Brooks intimated an official opening ceremony will be held next spring.

The new bridge certainly improves the appearance of Minden's main street as well as relieves the traffic congestion caused by the old one lane bridge.

THE BLUE SILK DRESS

By Sally Sandusky Eads
NANCY POWERS counted her egg money, then put it into the teapot and set it on the mantle. There was more than enough to pay for that pretty blue silk dress she had tried on at The Style Shoppe. Cyrus would be mighty proud when he saw her in that dress. He was going to town right after dinner to try to swap cars with Tom Newell, but Cyrus would have to pay boot. Nancy hoped the boot would not be too much, because Cyrus had his heart set on having that almost new car for them to drive to the New Year's Party. She glanced at the kitchen clock. "My goodness! Cyrus will soon be here for his dinner."

When Nancy saw Cyrus walking slowly down the snow-covered path toward the kitchen door, she said, "Somethin' musta happened." He looked tired, and disappointed. She hoped somebody else hadn't traded for Tom Newell's car. Well, she wouldn't ask for awhile.

"No, Nancy. That's your dress money." He pushed the money away from him.

"What's the matter, Cyrus Powers?" she asked when he had finished eating.

"Nothin' Nancy, only I've decided ag'in' tradin' for Newell's car. I'll have the old one greased and washed, and it'll look pretty good, agoin' to the New Year Party."

"Cyrus Powers, you know better'n that," Nancy accused. "You was proud when we was young, and you've not changed. Why, you used to take me to the Parties in the finest rubber tire buggy in the county. Your horses always matched your buggy in looks, and you still want a good lookin' turnout, when you go some place."

Cyrus laughed. "And I had the prettiest, best dressed gal of all."

An Old Story

Nancy smiled. She'd heard that before. She started clearing off the table. "Cyrus, tell me the truth. Why did you change your mind about tradin' for that same-as-new Ford car?"

"Nancy, you're too inquisitive. But the truth is, I had Bud Carter take my bank book to town this mornin' and have it balanced. We lack fifty dollars havin' enough boot money. I could borrow it, but that would worry you and me both."

"Uh-huh," Nancy reached for the teapot and laid thirty-three dollars on the table in front of Cyrus. "Now, get to town and trade for that car before somebody else beats you to it."

"No, Nancy. That's your dress money." He pushed the money away from him.

"Shucks! I don't want a new dress. Get goin' before I spill dishwater on you."

A Good Cry

After he was gone, Nancy sat down and, woman like, had a good cry. It had been so long since she'd had a new dress, but she wanted Cyrus to have the car he'd set his heart on.

She mended and pressed an old dress to wear. Late in the afternoon, she went to the barn and fed the cattle and horses, and milked the cows. Then she locked up the chicken house. It was getting dark when she saw Cyrus coming into the driveway. She wouldn't get to see the new car until morning.

Cyrus was laughing when he came in. "I found a place in town where they paint cars while you wait, and fix them to look like new. They said our car was in good shape." He was holding something behind him.

"You don't say! Cyrus, what's that you're holdin' behind you?"

He grinned and set a dress box on the table. "Since we only had a paint job to pay for, I knew we could afford something else for the car."

GOD'S CHRISTMAS GIFT

It was still, O very still Out on Calvary
When God hung his Christmas gift,
CHRIST—upon the tree.
"Behold I bring you good tidings of great joy." Luke 2:10.

"Joy to the world the Lord is come." That is what we will sing and hear over and over again as the day draws near. This day on which the Saviour's birth will be remembered. Above everything Christmas is a day of joy. No matter where it is celebrated, amidst the snows and frozen waters of the Arctic, in the teaming heat of equatorial jungles, or under the southern cross and the summer sun of Australia, Christmas is a day of joy and merriment, gladness and festivity.

This is as it should be. The birth of Christ meant joy to the whole world. That was the announcement of the angel: "Behold I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people." Not "joy" alone, "great joy." In considering the transcendent wonder and importance of the event that was to happen and its universality, God was no respecter of persons. The gift that he gave was to all people, race, clime, creed and color.

Oh, that the world would taste and see,

The riches of His grace,
The arms of love that compass me

Would all mankind embrace."

All had been included under sin, and all have need of God's salvation through Christ our Savior. That is why the birth of Christ meant joy to the world. His birth in the human heart means joy to the heart forever, and victory through Christ over sin and sinning.
That is the message of Christmas, it sets the joy bells ringing in your heart.
Let us ask ourselves this question: "Is it possible to be a Christian and not have this joy?" Yet there are so many who profess to know Christ as Saviour who seem to have missed the joy that Christ came to impart to every heart that receives Him.

"I do not wonder why people suffer," someone has said.
But I wonder why they miss the joy in life. I must confess this has caused me to wonder too. The people who miss this happiness, miss it at their own choosing. It might be theirs in all its fullness if they would only receive it from His blessed hands.

Faint in the dark night
gleaming,

Faint on the roaring seas

But it hails the day of peace

The glory, the peace He is bringing

The King who comes from afar,

And to Him who overcometh

He will give the morning Star.

The burden of sin, care and suffering, along with sorrow lies heavily upon the heart of the world today.
Without Christ the future is dark, very dark, dreadful and uncertain. The clock of time is ringing out the midnight hour. With Christ it can be as bright as the promises of God, illuminated by the joy
He gives and the power He imparts. The bells of Christmas ring out in messages of peace, of good will to men, of hope that rises in the stars, of love warm in the sunlight, of victory that is sure in Christ.

Let me say that there is a melancholy bell in the chime, and its echoes are meant to float through every day of the year. I fear the tragedy is that too often it does not find any greater expression than the giving of a few presents and a glow that disappears when Christmas day is over. What a mockery to call this Christmas joy at all. Why oh why have this sham when we might have the real thing, the abiding joy that the continued presence of the Lord Jesus Christ will bring. Why not do as the poet has expressed:

Let every heart keep its Christmas within Christ's pity for sorrow,
Christ's hatred for sin
Christ's care for the weakest Christ's courage for the right Christ's dread of the darkness, Christ's love for the light.

Everywhere, everywhere,
Christmas tonight.
Now when Christmas candles shine
Now when Yule logs sing, Children hush and bow the head Remembering.
God bless you all, may the joy of the Lord be yours at this Christmastime.

CHRISTMAS IS FOR GIVING

By Maud McCurdy Welch

TOMORROW was Christmas and Tommy was worried. It hadn't snowed at all, and if there was no snow to shovel, how could he make any money for Christmas?

Tommy lived in the neat farm cottage with his Uncle Pete and Aunt Lucy. Aunt Lucy had just told him he could go over and see Jimmy Reeder but be sure to be back by five o'clock. So Tommy started walking slowly toward the Reeder farm, as he had a lot of thinking to do.

In the small sitting room Aunt Lucy and Uncle Pete were talking. Aunt Lucy insisted that two dollars was an awful lot to pay for a dog. They were poor people after all and could only afford to give Tommy sensible things.

Uncle Pete thought Tommy should have the puppy he wanted. He was only seven, and needed a playmate.

Tommy was walking along still slowly, trying not to think how wonderful it would be if he could have this little puppy. His name was Blaze, and he was a runt; that's why he cost only two dollars. Tommy thought how the pup would frolic along beside him and wag his tail, and how they'd race over the fields when spring was here. But no use thinking about Blaze. He had to get a job.

It was when he was passing the big house where Mr. Robert That-

"Could you give it to me in a few shiny dollars," Tommy said.

cher lived, that the idea came. Tommy went in and asked Mr. Thatcher for a job. Mr. Thatcher was said to be a bad-tempered, stingy old man, but Tommy wasn't going to be afraid of him. He said, "I need some Christmas money, and I thought you might give me a job to do."

The old man asked grumpily, "What do you want for Christmas?"

His Xmas Wish

Tommy explained about the dog and Mr. Thatcher said, "All right, you can go to work in the orchard, cleaning out under the trees."

Tommy found the rake and other tools and went to work with vim. A little before five, the job was done. Mr. Thatcher took a look at it, and said he'd earned the two dollars.

"Could you give it to me in a few shiny dollars?" Tommy asked.

The old man nodded. "Thought you were going to buy a puppy?" "Nope. Can't have the puppy. Christmas is for giving."

The old man put two silver dollars in his hand. He said softly, "Glad you reminded me, Tommy. I'd almost forgotten."

Then it was Christmas. After breakfast Tommy proudly laid a shining silver dollar in Aunt Lucy's hand and one in Uncle Pete's. They were both so surprised for a moment they didn't speak. Then Aunt Lucy nodded at Uncle Pete. He left the room and they heard the chugging of the old Ford as it went down the lane.

"The dollar shines pretty, doesn't it?" Tommy asked.

"It's beautiful, Tommy. Thank you," Aunt Lucy's voice sounded choked up.

The Real Thing

When Uncle Pete came back, he gave Tommy two packages, mittens from Aunt Lucy and shoes from Uncle Pete. "Just what I needed," Tommy exclaimed and gave them both a big hug. Uncle Pete cleared his throat. "Tommy, your real present is on the back porch in a basket."

It was Blaze, the puppy. Tommy gave a cry of joy. He ran back to the sitting room, the puppy in his arms. "Oh, thank you, Uncle Pete. Thank you, Aunt Lucy. Thank you a million!"

But that wasn't all. An hour later a car stopped outside and a chauffeur brought in a big basket of fruit and one filled to the brim with wonderful things to eat. Even a turkey. There was a note, which read:

"Christmas is for giving. I signed you all a very Happy Yuletide!" It was signed Robert Thatcher.

Aunt Lucy and Uncle Pete looked at each other in amazement. Then Uncle Pete said, "Well, Robert Thatcher certainly did get the Christmas spirit, didn't he?"

"Everybody is so good," Tommy said. He looked down at the puppy which was now asleep in his lap.

HYDRO BOWLING LEAGUE

The Hydro bowlers gathered at Medley's on December 17 for their last night of bowling before the holiday season. As an added attraction we bowled for chickens, two for the ladies and two for the gents. Mrs. Irene Duncan and Mrs. Hilda McCarey took home the chickens for the ladies while Doug Pritchard and Wally Crofts got the other two.

Now to get down to some serious business like bowling.

The Madhatters are still in first place with a total of 50 points. The Rockets are following very close with 46 points. The Nitehawks and Noisykids are all tied up for third place with 45 points each.

The Jets are next in the running with 33 points while the Wildcats are holding their own with 31 points. The Buzzards have 30 points and the Hilowfers are tagging them very close with 28 points.

Now for the individual points won last night. The Nitehawks rolled an 1,114 average to give them seven points while the Noisykids gave them a bit of a scare (not much) by rolling 1,119 to give them six points.

The Madhatters averaged 1,113 and took home five points and the Hilowfers took four points by bowling an average game of 1,093. The Rockets slowed down a bit and rolled 1,072 to give them three points, while the Jets apparently didn't even get off the ground with their 1,064 and only took two points. The Wildcats got one point by averaging 1,054 and the Buzzards—well they averaged 1,049 but points—nix.

The outstanding games of the night were divided up a bit with Irene Duncan capturing ladies high single with 221 and Marie Cox rolled a nice 563 to take the ladies high triple. Buzz Godin it seems was in very good form as he captured men's high single and triple both by bowling a single of 278 and a triple of 683.

Well bowlers I guess this was the last night of bowling for 1956 but we shall see you all out and really bowling on January 7, 1957. Merry Christmas and better bowling year in 1957.

New Task-Force '57 Chevrolet Trucks!

They "flattened" Yukon mountains with the most modern truck V8's of all!

New V8-powered '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded, made one of the world's toughest roads look easy! In a straight-through test run, they rolled over the famous ALCAN Highway to Alaska — through towering mountains and treacherous mire — in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour trip). There's proof-in-action of power that'll handle your toughest jobs — and keep coming back for more!

ALCAN run supervised, certified by the AAA.

Six new Task-Force huskies made the run. And six ultra-modern Chevy engines proved their power and performance — with gas mileage ranging up to 20 miles per gallon! Two of the engines were not stopped once, and they hummed along at peak efficiency the entire 1,520 miles!

Chevy's big V8's — including the new 283 cu. in. Super Taskmaster — turned in top performance jobs. They hauled typical loads up and down breathtaking grades and through washouts that sucked wheels into hub-deep mud. They roared on through hundreds of miles of heavy dust that narrowed visibility to a few hundred feet. And in spite of the varying altitudes and temperatures, not a single truck dropped out or turned back due to mechanical failure!

Chevy trucks have got it, all right — everything it takes to star on the toughest jobs going! Stop by and see them soon!

Proved on the Alcan Highway
Champs of every weight class!

WILBERFORCE

A number of local residents went to Haliburton on Friday to attend variety night by the Madrigals and were very pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Sunday, December 16 was White Gift Sunday at St. Margaret's Anglican church when the children and adults brought gifts to be used for the Christmas baskets for the sick and shut-ins.

We are pleased to hear Mrs. C. Bowen is feeling better after being ill for several weeks. We hope she continues to improve.

Red Cross Guild

Christmas Party

On Monday, December 10 a meeting of the Wilberforce Red Cross Guild was held at the health centre with over 20 ladies present.

The first part of the evening took the usual form of business. It was decided to help the Red Cross board purchase a pair of adjustable crutches and a back rest for the Wilberforce loan cupboard.

The remainder of the evening took the form of a Christmas party.

The health centre was very attractively decorated, in keeping with the Christmas season. This included a gaily adorned tree which held the gifts which were exchanged by the members and their friends. Games and contests were enjoyed by all and very nice prizes were given to the winners.

The happy evening came to a close with the serving of delicious refreshments.

BACK THE ATTACK

"Beginning December 1 all across Canada and the U.S., reeve Noice announced today, "the broadest campaign ever attempted to reduce the number of accidents on our streets and highways was launched. The campaign is appropriately called 'Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents.'"

Safety groups, government departments, municipal officials, police, teachers and others are constantly working to cut down the province's accident toll. The only persons who can prevent accidents, however, are those exposed to accident producing situations. No one can keep you out of an accident except you and the other fellow . . . and don't be too sure about him!

"At this season of the year, early darkness and uncertain weather aggravate the hazards of walking and driving. Personal safety for each of us can only be acquired when each of us makes the necessary effort to protect ourselves and protect others.

"Pedestrian difficulties reach a peak as the season advances. The dark clothing of winter, and increasing activity during the hours of darkness, contribute to pedestrian hazard. The very young and the very old must be given special help and encouragement to recognize traffic dangers and avoid them.

"We of Dysart et al are well able to recognize the increased difficulties of walking and driving safely. We are also well able to avoid the dangers we recognize. Let us make every effort to keep Dysart free of the tragedy of traffic accidents."
